STATES WITH THE HIGHEST PERCENTAGE OF GOOD INSPECTIONS

As exposed in previous newsletters, not every state has the same level of road enforcement. Some are very strict and are even investing more tax payer resources in their highway safety programs, hiring more officers to conduct inspections and pulling drivers over for roadside inspections.

However luckily for you there are states that have very low percentage rates of inspections with violations. For example the state with the highest percentage of good inspections is Mississippi where 66.1% of inspections are inspections with no violations.

Below the list of the 10 states with the highest percentage of clean inspections:

1. Mississippi
2. Montana
3. North Dakota
4. California
5. Tennessee
6. South Dakota
7. West Virginia
8. Delaware
9. Nevada
10. North Carolina

Even though these states have low violation rates it is important to be compliant 100% of the time. As a professional driver you must follow the Hours of service regulations and be on top of your vehicle's maintenance. You have to protect your license and driving record and by doing so you also help the safety record of the company. Every inspection, good or bad you receive stays in your PSP report and it reflects on the safety of the company for 2 years.
